We believe in product quality.

We also believe that product quality comes from maintaining a validated, stable, and constantly monitored supply chain. SQA's managed programs combine our global network of quality professionals with dedicated program management and technical support, proven processes, and real-time performance data to make this happen. It's why our clients are confident that they have global quality assured.

WHO WE ARE

Since 1995, we have supported quality-critical industries in more than 60 countries worldwide.

SQA was established to provide world-class quality assurance services for the world's most recognized companies in the world's most demanding industries. Founders Jim and Mike McKay created an environment where exceptional people, processes, and technology combine to provide best-in-class solutions for global quality assurance.

Semiconductor Electronics

"SQA Services is like having an extension of our quality global organization in every country where we have a presence. Their global team has saved us enormous amounts of time and money."

- Quality Vice President, High Tech Manufacturer

Our global network
of quality professionals
can be anywhere, anytime.

HOW WE INTEGRATE

Our global network of quality professionals are where you need them, when you need them. We align with your supplier quality procedures, and apply commodity-specific expertise with a local presence. SQA's Associates are specifically selected and trained on your unique program to become your eyes and ears on site at your suppliers all over the world.

STEPQ

Supplier Tracking of Events for Performance and Quality

With visibility and control essential to any supplier quality initiative, SQA's STEPQ operations system provides stakeholders a secure, detailed, real-time view into their programs. From mobile data capture, to automatic updates, to in-depth analytics, STEPQ helps clients transform program results from information into action."
